Dear Friends,

Hooray for retirement! We've had holidays with family, traveled to Florida for other family time, and caught up with and am continuing my private practice and mentoring program. Grandchildren time is still my first priority and gives us the most precious memories.

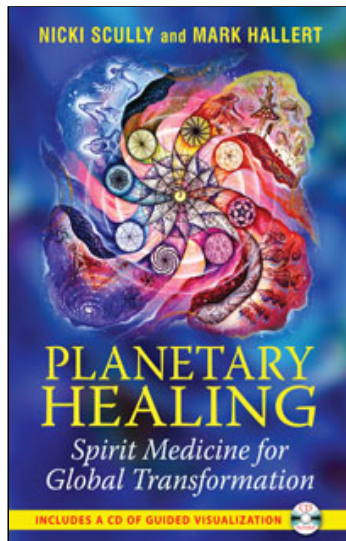

Well, that was a great vacation! Now back to work—although my body is still needing more recovery time, my heart is crying out to do what I love almost as much as hugging my grandkids. I think I've found a compromise: I'll teach occasional classes online, save traveling for family, and continue with one-on-one sessions and mentoring.

Free Planetary Healing Call to Action

I haven't done a Planetary Healing Call to Action in way too long, so I will start with that. For those who are new to receiving our newsletters, we have been doing these free calls ever since Mark and I finished writing our book, Planetary Healing: Spirit Medicine for Global Transformation. We used to do these calls bi-monthly, and then only when we felt compelled to address Big Issues as they arose. Some of the best calls came as a result of requests from readers of this newsletter. Please accept this invitation to join Mark and me Saturday, February 2, for one hour at 10:30am Pacific.

If you register for the planetary healing ceremony but can't make the time to participate live, we will send you a recording. If you do the work at a later time using the recording it will be just as potent, and it will extend as well as increase the power of our work. When you register, please let us know which of the many important situations you would wish us to work on and we will either use something appropriate from our book or create something new for the occasion. Our intention is to use the power of our numbers as we do ritual together (via Zoom video and/or telephone) to make a difference on our chosen subject, and your ideas are always considered and helpful. Please register here... The call is free, and your input is valuable. Together we can make a difference.

Sekhmet: Transformation in the Belly of the Goddess

I wish to thank those of you who let me know what you want from me in the event I decide to teach again, and not so much to my surprise, many people want me to take them through my most recent book, Sekhmet, Transformation in the Belly of the Goddess. To that I say, "Good choice!"

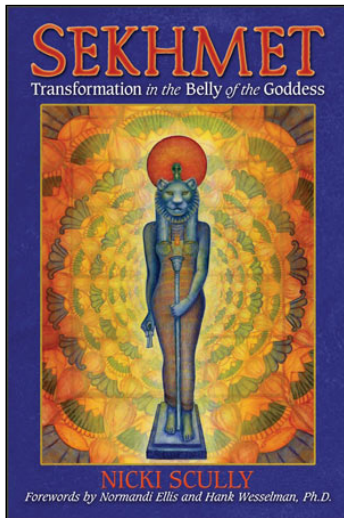

The reason I can do the Sekhmet class at this time is I can do it on Zoom, and because you are all my friends and many of you will be doing it for the second or even third time—I can use my Zoom room and I can change my position or even the timing if my health requires it. So, I've decided to go for it and came up with dates for six classes, each on Saturday morning, 10:30am Pacific until between noon and 12:30pm starting February 9, 2019.

Having your own copy of the book is essential; a copy will be sent along with a comprehensive letter explaining what you need to do and read to prepare when you sign up. Please don't wait until the last minute to register, as prior preparations are important.

*People who are repeating this class will receive a significant discount.
Welcome back!*

You can register at www.HathorsMirror.com where you will find more details. There are opportunities for creative financing and some discounts. If you have further questions, contact my office at 541-484-1099 or office@shamanicjourneys.com. I rarely read Facebook messages, although I do use it occasionally. I think if you like my author page you will receive my posts, but I'm not sure. My personal page is full.

Enough news for the moment. I'm excited and looking forward to the upcoming Call to Action and sharing Sekhmet's amazing and transformative work with you.

*With blessings and love,
Nicki*
